

Where to see Newfoundland Ponies!

Hitting the road this summer and wondering where you can see Newfoundland Ponies in Newfoundland and Labrador? Here are a few places we know of. These pony owners love to show off their ponies, but we recommend you get in touch with them in advance. Enjoy!

Change Islands Newfoundland Pony Sanctuary

Change Islands, NL

Netta LeDrew runs this amazing sanctuary for Newfoundland Ponies and has put her heart and soul into it. You'll need to take a ferry to get here, but we promise you it's worth it. Rumour has it Netta has a Newfoundland Pony named after the Duchess of Cambridge, Kate Middleton.

NL Pony Pals Project

South River (between Cupids and Clarke's Beach)

The NL Pony Pals Project was started by a group of Newfoundland Pony owners in Conception Bay North who have their ponies turned out on a community pasture in the summer. Money raised by the Newfoundland Pony Pals Project goes straight back into helping Newfoundland Ponies by providing hay, feed and farrier services.
